

Jennifer Clamme

Jennifer Clamme is a Paralegal and Certified eDiscovery Specialist (CEDS) in Keesal Young & Logan's San Francisco office. Jennifer serves as a project manager and eDiscovery consultant to the firm's attorneys and clients.

Jennifer has been involved in the development of industry standards for much of her career. Jennifer is a member of the Duke Law-EDRM Technology Assisted Review (TAR) Standards Project where she, along with other legal experts and the EDRM Team, have developed TAR Guidelines to provide guidance on best practices based on the EDRM TAR framework. In 2013, Jennifer was an exam writer for the Organization of Legal Professionals' Certified eDiscovery Professional (CeDP) exam. In 2010, Jennifer served as the Trial Assistant for the American Board of Trial Advocates (ABOTA) Masters Series Conference.

In 2017, Jennifer was nominated for the International Legal Technology Association's Distinguished Peer Awards – Young Professional of the Year for her advocacy and assistance in developing KYL's CEDS Consultation Meeting (CCM) initiative. The initiative systematically integrates jurisdictional rules, client-specific guidelines for eDiscovery, and KYL's eDiscovery expertise at the outset of every litigation matter.

Jennifer began her paralegal career as the sole litigation and trial paralegal for a boutique firm in Southern California specializing in business litigation, transactions, and estate planning. There, Jennifer testified in a jury trial regarding an audit of the opposition's document production after discovering the spoliation of evidence. After moving to San Francisco, she became the lead litigation support and trial paralegal for a firm specializing in professional malpractice and premises liability.

Certifications

- CEDS (Certified eDiscovery Specialist), ACEDS (2015)
- Ipro Certified Administrator for Ipro Tech's EclipseSE legal review software
- Certified Operator of Basic Technology (COBOT) in Microsoft Word, Microsoft Excel, and Adobe Acrobat
- Paralegal Certificate, University of California, Irvine Extension (2005)

Community Engagement

- Advisory Committee for the Paralegal Studies Program at City College of San Francisco (2012)

- Founding Board Member of the Association of Certified E-Discovery Specialists (ACEDS) San Francisco Chapter
- Member, San Francisco Chapters of Women in E-Discovery and the International Legal Technology Association (ILTA).

Recognitions

- Nominated for the International Legal Technology Association's Distinguished Peer Awards – Young Professional of the Year (2017)

Education

- B.A. (psychology), University of California, Irvine (2003)

Practice Areas

- Business Litigation
- Class/Mass Actions
- Commercial & Residential Real Estate Lending Litigation
- Compliance, Operations & Data Control Advisory \(CODA\)
- Employment Litigation & Advisory
- Health Care
- Maritime
- Professional Liability
- Securities

Phone

\(415\) 398-6000398-6000)

Email

jennifer.clamme@kyl.com

Office Location

San Francisco

Position

Associate